GENERAL PORTER'S WILL

Contains an Earnest Declaration of His Innocence. REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Morristown, N. J., Nov. 7.-The will of General Fitz-John Porter, deceased, was admitted to probate to-day. The document is cstate, books, papers, keepsakes, etc., the will says:

"I affirm my absolute innocence of all charges made against me as a soldier of the United States. I was faithful to my country and to the commission which I held. I tried in entire integrity to be true and obedient to my commanding officer whoever he might be, and none more so than General John Pope, during the memorable campaign of 1852. This I solemnly affirm.

"I make this declaration, which will not see the light until my actions and motives are beyond human scrutiny, in justice to myself, my wife and children. I have sought, as they well know, a re-examination of the unjust judgment against me, and it has been withheld, if not refused. I admonish my children, and especially my sons, who will always have my name, to vindicate, so far as in them lies, their father's reputation. More than this I ought not to say, but this I say, with emphasis.

This is the only will ever made by General Porter. About ten years later. General Porter was partially vindicated of the charge of cowardice. He was restored to his rank, but not to the army.

EXPLAINS CONFESSION TO NONCATHOLICS.

Father Conway Gives a Practical Illustration-Laity and the Cup.

"Confession," a lecture delivered last night at St. John's Church, Sixteenth and Chestnut streets, by the Reverend Bertram ... Conway, proved to be one of the most interesting that has been delivered by the Paulists at the church since the series of ilks to noncatholics began. The atendance at the lectures is increasing and dution of those attending, in addition to the confession as practiced in the Catholic Church by presuming that President Rooseeit had the power to appoint a commission vestigate the cases of certain convicts and pardon them if they proved worthy, but not otherwise. The Commissioners would not, he stated, grant pardons without care-not, he stated, grant pardons without careful investigation.

Confession, he stated, corresponds to the investigation of the Commissioners. The priests, the speaker stated, are the Commissioners of the Savior, who said: Whose sins you shall forgive are forgiven them, and whose sins you shall retain are retained. The priest judges whether the sinner is deserving of forgiveness, after hearing the evidence presented in a confession.

The most interesting question answered last night was: "Why deny the cup to the laity?" Father F. B. Doherty, who answered the question, after explaining that the teaching of the Catholic Church that the bread and wine are changed into the body and blood of Christ by the words of the priest in the mass, said that in the carly days of the church the laity received under both forms. It became the custom, however, for the laity to receive under the form of bread. This was done, he said, to abrogate the use of wine, because of the danger of abuse, infection and the spilling of the sacred species. At the Council of Constance, 1144, several centuries after the custom became prevalent, it was decreed that the laity should receive the form of bread only, and this law still prevails.

Father Doherty will speak to-night on "The Real Presence."
